

To M.P. Handy.

Love's

Four Leaf Clover

Music by

SIDNEY SMITH.

3

PHILADELPHIA

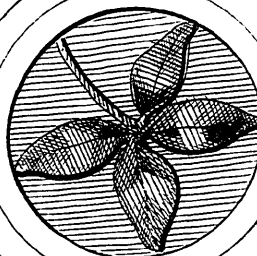

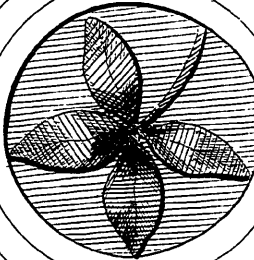

PUBLISHED BY J. E. DITSON & CO.

BOSTON, O. DITSON & CO. CHICAGO, LYON & HEARD. PHILADELPHIA, J. E. DITSON & CO.

Baltimore, Otto Suro.

Sherman Clay & Co. M. Gray. San Francisco.

Copyright 1885 by O. Ditson & Co.

LOVE'S FOUR - LEAF CLOVER

Poem by John Paul Boccock .

Music by Sydney Smith, M.D.

Andante.

Voice

Piano mf

1. When po - sies bloom in bon - nie June, And sum - mer blos - soms
 2. When day fills up his lov - ing cup, And em - i - grates in - like a rose, There is a mag - ic in the moon, A to the West, The ev' - ning air drives off dull care, And spell that ev' - ry lov - er knows. The days dis - car - ded lov - ers' tales are then told best. In - to the streets the like a glove, Joy tin - gles twi - light's finger - tips, And, toil - ers throng, And up and down some qui - et glade, The waltz - ing on a moonbeam, Love, In - - to my la - - dy's ten - der shep - herd sings his song, And tells his love - - to win - dow slips.                      June po - sies, could                      ye nev - er close,                      On will - ing maid.                      June po - sies bloom                      the sea - son's blest;                      Who youth                      and pas -                      sion's                      ten                      der                      tune!                      Love but                      de - lights                      to                      live                      it                      o'er;                      When

is                      the fair                      est                      flow'r                      that blows,                      And whis                      per'd tri                      -                      -                      fles                      have                      a                      zest,                      All yet                      it with                      -                      -                      -                      ers                      all too soon.

 find                      Love's four                      -                      -                      -                      leaved                      clov - er!